

America. Why haven't we debated it for over 2 years? Because the insurance companies do not want this issue to come to the floor of the Senate. They do not want to face the votes which we would call for on the floor of the Senate.

The Patients' Bill of Rights that the Democrats support is a bill which gives to those who are providing health care fair treatment. Right now if something happens that is wrong in medical treatment, who gets sued? The doctors and the hospitals. But what if the insurance company made the wrong decision? Under the law, they are protected. The current law protects them. They can't be held accountable. Is that fair? Is that American? I don't believe it is. We are each held accountable for our actions, as every business is held accountable. There is no reason why health insurance companies should be exempt from that responsibility.

Here is what faces us: Will we, in the closing weeks before we break for the Fourth of July or our August recess, have the political courage to bring this issue to the floor? We spent 5 days debating giving protection to computer companies against being sued for Y2K problems, 5 days. We were worried about computer companies. Well, maybe we should be. But can't we spend 5 hours on this debate to stand up for families across America who want protection when it comes to the health care that means so much?

Look at these photographs. Imagine what life is like battling every single day with the insurance company and then praying to God, as you go to sleep at night, that this beautiful little baby will be alive in the morning. That is the reality of health care in America.

I challenge the Republican leadership, challenge them to bring to the floor of the Senate within the next week the Patients' Bill of Rights. Let us have this debate. Let us face the tough votes. That is what we are here for, for goodness' sake. This is supposed to be a deliberative body where we debate and argue and come to the best conclusion for the people we represent.

I will stand behind the Democratic Patients' Bill of Rights, because I believe it is the best one. I believe it is the only one that is honest and complete and will help American families. The Republican plan, as this chart indicates, would leave over 100 million Americans behind, would not give them the protections which we believe are essential to health insurance.

It is true they protect 48 million Americans, just as we do, but they leave behind 113 million who are protected by the Democratic bill.

I think it is time to have this debate, for the good of families across America, for the Pavletichs in Addison, IL, for the Cortez family from Elk Grove Village, for the Eberhardts, who have written to me and told me their story, from Yorkville, IL.

I promise you this: As long as my voice holds out, I will be on my feet on the Senate floor saying to my colleagues, we have a responsibility. The 105th Congress left town a little over 6 months ago and did nothing. It was a do-nothing Congress. This Congress is not going to leave town without addressing this critical issue, this issue that means so much to Americans across this country and people who continue to write on a daily basis.

I will close by saying this: Keep the letters and photographs coming in. As long as you will send me your stories of your family struggling to provide quality health care, I will continue to stand on this floor and tell these stories, in the hopes that my colleagues in the Senate will address this important issue.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Vermont.

Mr. LEAHY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to be able to continue as in morning business for 15 minutes.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

PATIENTS' BILL OF RIGHTS

Mr. LEAHY. Mr. President, I wish to commend the distinguished senior Senator from Illinois for his statement. The Senator from Illinois represents one of the greatest States of our country, a significant and very large State, with millions of people, ranging from one of the best known, most dynamic cities not only in this country but in the world, and also with very small rural areas. I, in turn, represent a very small State, where the largest city is 40,000 people. We go down to a town of 40 people. But I couldn't help but think, while listening to the statement of my good friend from Illinois, about some of the letters he read. The names of the towns might be different, but we might have heard similar letters from Vermont. Sometimes the problems are compounded by the fact that we are a rural State. As he knows, in the rural areas of his great State the problems are even worse because of the distances they have to travel and the lack of choices they may have. I hope he will continue to speak because he speaks not just for the people of Illinois, but for the people of Vermont and everywhere else.

THE POWERFUL GUN LOBBY

Mr. LEAHY. Mr. President, while we talk about the actions in the other body, it is fascinating to me what has happened in the dark of night. The members of the other body aren't controlling their destiny; it apparently was controlled by a powerful lobby in this country. For a while, the same thing happened in the U.S. Senate. I asked the question on the floor of the Senate: "Who will run the Senate, the U.S. Senators or the powerful gun lobby?" Finally, by the slimmest of margins, they answered the question and said that the U.S. Senate will represent the people of America.

I have watched how posturing and symbolism sometimes wins out over substance. Members of the other body are all sworn to uphold the Constitution of the United States. They have taken the same oath that I and every Member of the Senate have taken. They flew in the face of the Constitution, a Supreme Court decision outlined in the Constitution, and said that we, the Members of the Congress, will say the 10 commandments shall be or may be put on schoolhouse walls.

Why did the House of Representatives do this and turn against the Constitution that they are sworn to uphold? Why? So that the students seeing it would be inspired to uphold the law. That's fascinating. We say that the other body will—the House of Representatives—will turn its back on the Constitution, and in so doing will encourage children who should look to them for leadership to uphold the laws of this country. It is an example that I cannot fathom. This is what they ought to do—work harder and make it possible for the parents of these children to spend more time with them, make it possible to have an educational system that can help teach the difference between right and wrong. Perhaps, if they are going to talk about the 10 commandments, they should remind the gun lobby of the fifth commandment: Thou shalt not kill.

PENDING NOMINATION OF BILL LANN LEE

Mr. LEAHY. Mr. President, on Wednesday of this week, I was fortunate to be present during the ceremony commemorating the presentation of the Congressional Gold Medal to Mrs. Rosa Parks. What an inspiring time. I heard Mrs. Parks, Reverend Jackson, and the President each take the occasion to remind us that the struggle for equality is not over.

I heard Jesse Norman, with that incomparable voice, sing to us both our National Anthem and really the anthem of the civil rights movement. Every one of us—black or white, old or young, man or woman, Republican or Democrat, were inspired by what we saw and heard. How could you not be inspired in the magnificent rotunda of the U.S. Capitol?

But then I went back to my office and I started asking myself, have we listened? I serve as the ranking Member of the Senate Judiciary Committee, and the committee still has
